Ordering material and requesting a licence

A quote can then be provided, and a licence agreement administered as required.

Material supplied from the NMRW is protected by copyright law. Requests for information and copies are fulfilled in compliance with the Re-use of Public Sector Information Regulations 2015, subject to any necessary archive or copyright restrictions.

An additional Licence Fee may be payable for the reproduction of material, especially for commercial purposes including publishing. Please see our 'Licence Fees' (LES17), or contact the NMRW, for current charges.

Material is supplied for personal use under the Non-Commercial Government Licence or our 'Terms and Conditions for use of Information from the NMRW' (LES18).

Search fees

Standard searches: (up to 15 working days) Free

Complex searches: Enquiries which seek information about three or more sites, require extensive searches of uncatalogued material, or request detailed summary of records' contents.

Non-commercial	£20.00 per half hour
Commercial	£35.00 per half hour

Max. 3 hours (N.B.: Charges still apply in cases where searches are unsuccessful)

Please note that we will only undertake research within the holdings of the NMRW site database and archive and RCAHMW library, although we may signpost to other record holding institutions as appropriate. We may decline any complex enquiry which is reasonably beyond out capacity to deliver. If you require the services of an independent researcher, the National Library of Wales maintains a list of such providers, here: (https://www.library.wales/catalogues-searching/help-to-search/family-history-help/independent-researchers)

Aerial Photography Searches: charged at the same rate as complex enquiries. You will be sent a list of your search results.

Basic Search (Indicates whether an aerial photograph was taken but not its medium or availability, suitable for arranging a visit to view images in the Search Room)

Full Search (Indicates whether we hold physical or digital copies of each photograph, suitable for ordering scans or copies of images)

As an indicator, a basic search for a single site within a defined timeframe will usually take 0.5–1 hour, with an additional 0.5–1 hour for a full search. Larger or more complex searches may require more time and therefore cost more. We will advise you of the cost prior to proceeding with your search.

Priority search service (up to five working days) £75.00

Payment for a priority search must be received prior to the searches being initiated and must be paid for, even when no search results are found. N.B. This service is subject to availability.

Virtual visits and one-to-one consultations via Microsoft Teams

Virtual Visit (20 minutes): During these virtual visits you will be able to view documents and records from the NMRW archive briefly so that you can identify any documents of which you would like to order scans or copies, or determine if an in-person visit to our Search Room is necessary.

20 minute virtual visit Free

Online Consultation (40 minutes): These longer sessions can be used to view a larger amount of material. Alternatively, they can be used for research guidance, similar to the assistance offered to in-person visitors to our Search Room. This can include assistance in carrying out searches, guidance on sources from our library and archive, viewing a prepared selection of documents and offering guidance on where to go next.

40 minute one-to-one consultation with a member of staff £25

N.B. We are unable to undertake research of documents on your behalf or read out lengthy passages from them via the virtual consultation. If you would like to commission a search or require this sort of detail, please contact us.

Due to the time available, we will only be able to show you a limited number of documents. They will not be held up or handled in any way that may cause damage.

Documents must be ordered in advance and cannot be retrieved during the session.

Sessions may be booked every Monday or Friday.

Group visits

We welcome group visits to the Library and Search Room, by prior arrangement. These typically last between one and two hours and are tailored to the interests of the group. However, a visit usually consists of talks, a display of archive material and a tour of our archive strongrooms.

We also provide virtual group visits and talks, which can be tailored to an individual group's interests.

We welcome visits from primary and secondary schools, universities, youth groups, local and family history groups, specialist interest groups, civic societies and professional bodies. We can host sessions through the medium of English or Welsh.

Free, but subject to availability. Please contact us to discuss.
